In particular, the proposed final judgement:

Fails to reduce the application barrier to entry that Microsoft was found to have illegally protected;

Fails to remedy the injury done to the Java™ technology community;

Fails to remedy the illegal injury that Microsoft was found to have done to Netscape Navigator and the browser market;

Fails to curtail Microsoft's illegal bundling of middleware programs including browsers, media players, and instant messaging software into the monopoly Windows operating system;

Is ambiguous and subject to manipulation by Microsoft because it lacks an effective enforcement mechanism.

In addition, Microsoft has unlawfully gained popularity for its products, by forcing everyone that installs Winxxx to use its applications including Players, browsers, editors and ... and in this "proposed final judgement" there is no solution for this unlawfully gained popularity.

This popularity consists of forcing end users, which are mostly novice or beginners to forcibly use Microsoft's product and have no desire to change the software.
